ANNULMENT PETITION

The constant and traditional teaching of the Catholic Church throughout the centuries holds that any marriage properly entered into by the spouses is to be considered valid and binding. All children of a valid or a putative marriage are considered legitimate and this legitimacy once conferred can never be taken away by any power (canon 1137).

In petitioning for a declaration of invalidity of your marriage you are asking an ecclesiastical Tribunal to make a formal statement that your former marriage, although entered into with sincerity by both parties, lacked some of the essential requisites necessary for a sacramental marriage. The church reluctantly admits petitions of invalidity since it is called to be faithful to Christ's teaching: "What God has joined let man not separate." This is why each individual petition is judged on its own merits.

ANNULMENT PROCESS

The annulment process is designed to facilitate growth and healing. It does not seek to fix blame or find a guilty party. Its purpose is to acquire an understanding of the personalities of the spouses, the courtship, and the subsequent marriage.

As an initial step in the process, you are asked to submit a printed or typed report that has been composed according to the following questions. Writing this report may be a painful task. Yet the very discomfort should lead to your personal growth and spiritual betterment.

DOCUMENTS TO BE SUPPLIED

- Marriage Certificate (church and civil)
- Civil Divorce Decree
- Baptismal Record for both parties

GROUND S

The process is adjudicated in a legal setting to assure fairness and objectivity. Since a declaration of invalidity is NOT a dissolution or divorce, nor is it a mere permission to remarry, there must be serious reasons before a petition can be accepted. Marriage comes into being by the free and reasoned consent of the parties. Our task is to carefully examine whether or not any of the essential requisites necessary for the sacramental marriage, were lacking.

RIGHTS OF THE RESPONDENT

Since marriage always involves two persons, it is essential that we notify the other party of your petition, inform them of the grounds on which you seek the decree of invalidity, and invite their cooperation. If they so choose, they may come to the Tribunal to testify and even to read the documents and written materials submitted by you. These are universal requirements of the law of the Catholic Church which if not complied with automatically render a decree of invalidity null and void. Should the other party choose not to participate, we will not bother them anymore. However, they must be offered the right to participate.

EXPENSES

It is necessary for us to charge a fee toward helping pay the expenses associated with processing your petition. Professional services, secretary salaries, telephone services, mailing costs, etc., all add up at the end of each month. Your parish priest will give you a copy of the various fees. Please make your check payable to the Diocese of St. Augustine. Your fee is tax deductible. The Diocese of St. Augustine, in order to help you in your relationship with the Lord, is already paying a substantial amount of the actual cost of processing the case so as not to burden you. If you are unable to pay the fee please speak with the pastor of your parish who will work with you.
